INTRODUCTION

This file is a document, a listing of titles of books that I know on the NAA B-25 in use with ML-KNIL / NEIAF-RAAF. It is an excerpt of a larger document on publications on the NAA B-25 bomber. That living document changes almost on a monthly basis.

I don't sell these books, but various shops do, just check the net. All prices mentioned in this document are without p&p and indicate a price at the time of the entry of the title. In case you're interested in buying one of the books, it's always useful to search via <http://www.abebooks.com/> or ask a specialized aviation bookshop (as Flash Eindhoven NL or Aviation Hobbyshop in Aalsmeerderbrug NL).

A very special thanks for their very useful information goes to

B-25 MITCHELL IN RAAF SERVICE

by Phil H. Listemann

A piece of Dutch in Australian aviation history. Most RAAF B-25's came from the Dutch NEIAF / ML KNIL. No 2Sq operated them in conjunction with the Dutch 18Sq. After the war, all B-25s were scrapped. The B-25 Mitchell was one of the most numerous used medium bombers in WWII. It fought with three major users, the Americans, the Soviets and the British. However other countries received Mitchells during the war, including Australia with 50 aircraft on charge, most of which came from Dutch orders. They were used by a single unit, No 2Sq in the Pacific. With over 30 photographs, the book is a very good reference for modelers and historians. Published as No. 9 in the series 'Allied Wings'

DE COLOMBO-TRAGEDIE

by J.C. Bijkerk

During 1942, three ML-KNIL / NEIAF 18Sq crew members were arrested in Australia supposed to be involved in sabotage, help to the Japs and an attempt to desert from the AF. Details of the process in court in Colombo, Ceylon. At a later time was found, that the three were victims of a well planned operation in order to restore discipline in the squadron that was waiting for new duties.
